

Feasibility Analysis: Nexus Arena - A Compelling Opportunity

Product or Service Feasibility (Industry/Market Analysis) : A Validated Market Need

- Clear Market Gap: The market is dominated by either long-session MOBAs (20+ minutes) or shallow hyper-casual games. Nexus Arena's 5-minute, deep-strategy model perfectly occupies the white space in between, a segment proven by the success of hybrid genres but not yet directly addressed by a MOBA.
- Rapid Validation Strategy: We will deploy a Minimal Viable Product (MVP) within 3 months for a controlled regional beta. This "test-and-learn" approach de-risks development by using real player data (e.g., Day 7 Retention, session length) to refine the product before a full-scale launch, ensuring we build what players truly want.
- Conclusion: The product concept is not a guess but a data-driven solution to a clear and sizable market gap.

Porter's Five Forces Model reveals that Nexus Arena is not merely feasible but strategically positioned to build a sustainable and profitable business by navigating industry forces intelligently.
